Switzer's Picnic Area to Bear Canyon March 26, 2003

8 miles round trip

1000 elevation gain

Thank Heavens, women are not only allowed to change their minds but are encouraged to do so. As it makes for a much more lively world.

As it appears that we might have need of snowshoes for my originally planed hike to Twin Peaks, I thought I may as well give in and change the planed hike now. (Giving everyone time to get over their disappointment)

Drive up Angeles Crest Highway (SR 2) 10 1/2 miles from La Canada to the side road on the right and descend to the parking area. Cross the bridge and follow Alice, there might be some changes in the trail due to the rain and possible mudslides. Older boots might be in order, as its possible that we might have to walk on water.
